

AN IMPORTANT YEAR.

(From the New York Sun.)

The political calendar for the next five months is chock full of interest for the Democrats of New Jersey. Outside of the Presidential canvass, they have a Democratic Governor to elect, a Legislature which will choose another Democrat to succeed Rufus Blodgett in the United States Senate next March, and Democratic Congressmen in at least six of the eight districts under the new apportionment.

At present New Jersey has five Democrats and two Republicans in the House of Representatives. The effect of the redistricting of the State by the Legislature of 1891 is to enable the party, with ordinary prudence in its nominations and energy in its campaign, to send six Democrats to Congress instead of five; and besides this gain, it has a fighting chance in the Second District, where a change of six hundred votes at the next election would upset the Republican plurality of 1890.

The conjunction of so many important elections in a single year, with so many private interests and personal ambitions pulling in different directions, increases and emphasizes the duty of the party leaders and of the rank and file of loyal Democratic voters to shape the nominations with a view to the general result, and to a harmonious and successful campaign throughout the State. The Senatorship question, the nomination of a Governor to succeed the Hon. Leon Abbott, who is ineligible under the Constitution for re-election for the next three years' term, and the selection of winning candidates in the six Congress districts, which the party ought to carry, all involve considerations of policy and expediency which are closely interwoven. They must all be taken into account if the Democracy is to lose no points when it goes to the polls.

For this reason we regret to observe on the part of some of the leaders in Hudson County and its outlying provinces a disposition to force an issue at once on the Governorship question, and for the benefit of a Hudson County candidate. We are sorry, for instance, to see that accomplished and wily statesman, the Hon. John Roderic McPherson of Jersey City, lending his countenance, at least seven weeks in advance of the State Convention, to the proposition that there is something in the leadership of the present splendid and efficient State organization which needs to be overthrown; and that the proper way to introduce "new blood" is to introduce it in the person of a Hudson County candidate for Governor: Judge Job Lippincott for talk, Mr. Edmund F. C. Young of Jersey City for business. Mr. Young is probably a worthy gentleman, and he enjoys the immense advantage of Senator McPherson's personal friendship; but at this distance from the Jersey shore we have never heard him ranked as an organizer of Democratic victory, with such leaders as Leon Abbott and James Smith, Jr., of Essex. At this distance, indeed, the premature Hudson County movement looks less like "reform" than like selfish politics, anti-Democratic in tendency; and the suspicion as to the motive and probable effect is not lessened by the eagerness with which the "Hudson County" movement is commended by the Mugwump newspapers of New York.

In view of the importance of this year's canvass in New Jersey, and of the broad considerations already recited, it would be particularly unfortunate if anything in the attitude of Hudson should provoke in other parts of the State the idea that the county which now has one of the two United States Senators, and which has had the Governor for six years out of the nine years past, is excessive in its pretensions or claims. Such is likely to be the effect in Essex especially, where the feeling is strong that fairness requires that the Democratic candidate for Governor, at least, should be an Essex County man this year. Under able leadership the development of Democratic strength in Essex has been extraordinary; and at the Congress elections of 1890 it took its place at the head, casting more Democratic votes by nearly two thousand than any other in the State.

We believe that in Hudson and elsewhere, reasonable Democrats who can see beyond the ends of their respective noses will perceive the danger of a permanent centralization of the important offices in any one county, and will recognize the bearing of the Governorship question on the other important considerations involved in the canvass now beginning.

The Price of Gas.

The following embodies an argument that is frequently used in this town in connection with the gas service: "The Directors of the Bergen County Gas Light Company announce that they have reduced the price of gas to two dollars per thousand cubic feet. In making this large reduction they rely upon the support of the citizens of Englewood in the reasonable expectation that it will result not only in an increase in the number of consumers, but in a more liberal use of gas by those now using it." It is contended that the supply of gas for this town comes from Newark. If such is the case there seems to be no reason why the same prices for private and public consumption that prevail in Newark should not prevail here.

A Saving to the Taxpayers.

Manager Day, of the Madison (N. J.) Water and Electric Light plant, states that the taxpayers, through their ownership of the electric light plant, are credited with $7,500 annually for street lighting. Four thousand dollars per year is likewise saved the taxpayers. These estimates are based on private corporation charges for service much inferior to the system adopted by the city government of Madison.

Good Carp Fishing.

Big and fat German carp are so plentiful in the Passaic River at Pine Brook that when the natives want a fish for supper they wade out in the shallow water and spear a carp with a pitchfork. Carp are so numerous in the river that they keep the water muddy and spoil the fishing for bass and pickerel.

Mrs. William Lohr

Of Freeport, Ill., began to fail rapidly, lost all appetite and got into a serious condition from Dyspepsia. She could not eat vegetables or meat, and even toast distressed her. Had to give up housework. In a week after taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla she felt a little better. Could keep more food on her stomach and grew stronger. She took 3 bottles, has a good appetite, gained 22 lbs., does her work easily, is now in perfect health.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills. They assist digestion and cure headache.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

Munn.
By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein James G. Beach, Robert T. Beach and George D. Crane, executors of James Crane, deceased, are complainants, and you are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, demur, or answer to the complainant's bill, on or before the fifteenth day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a certain mortgage made by you Joseph E. Munn to James Crane, deceased, in his lifetime on lands in Monclair, Essex County, New Jersey, to secure the payment of twenty-two hundred and fifty dollars, and bearing date June 14th, 1878.

And you said Joseph E. Munn are made defendant because it is alleged in the bill of complaint filed in this cause, that you are the owner of said mortgaged premises, and a decree is prayed foreclosing your equity or redemption therein.

And you said Mrs. Joseph E. Munn are made defendant because the said bill alleges that you have an inchoate estate of dower in said mortgaged premises, and the bill prays for a decree foreclosing any right of redemption that you may have by virtue of said estate.

Dated July 13th, 1892.

ESSEX COUNTY ORPHANS' COURT.

E. In the matter of the estate of Asahel G. Darwin, deceased, alleged to be insolvent. Order to limit on representation of insolvency. Josephine Darwin, Administratrix of Asahel G. Darwin, deceased, having represented to the Court on oath, that the personal and real estate of the said deceased is insufficient to pay the debts of the said deceased, according to the best of her knowledge and belief, it is hereby directed and ordered by the Court that the Administratrix give public notice to the creditors of the estate to exhibit to said Administratrix under oath or affirmation their claims and demands against the estate, within six months, by setting up such notice in five of the most public places in the county, for the space of two months and also by advertising the same for the like period, once a week, in the BLOOMFIELD CITIZEN, a newspaper printed in this State. Dated July 7, 1892.

JOHN B. DUSENBERRY, Surrogate.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Richard Duncan Harris and Mrs. Richard Duncan Harris.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Elizabeth F. R. Luing is complainant and you are defendants, you are required to appear and plead demur or answer the complainant's bill, on or before the seventh day of August next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage, made by Annie A. Bax and Thomas B. Bax to complainant, dated May first, 1889, on lands in the township of Bloomfield in the County of Essex and State of New Jersey, and you are made defendants because you Richard Duncan Harris own the mortgaged premises, and you Mrs. Richard Duncan Harris have an inchoate dower right therein.

Dated July 13th, 1892.
